MAY RECOUNT MINNESOTA

Minneapolis, Minn. Dec. 2.—In spite of the fact that the reversal of Minnesota's presidential verdict would not affect the reelection of President Wilson, the state democratic committee will probably ask a recount of the ballots. State chairman Wheaton will make the decision after conferring with John Lind, Wilson's Mexican ambassador and the committee's attorneys.

LITTLE TALKS ON THRIFT

By S. W. STRAUS, President American Society for Thrift

As a general rule thrift is practiced more among business firms, in offices and factories than in the private home and by the individual. Many a man is thrifty in business but wasteful in personal affairs.

There is scarcely any business organization which cannot, if the matter is gone about carefully, find means of economizing on little things. A great many firms with the present stringency in the paper market are using circular letters, and letters that have no value, as second sheets for the typewriter. Envelopes are cut up and are used for memoranda. A great deal of money is wasted on telephone and telegraph tolls when, by thinking far enough ahead, the mails would answer the purpose. In case of doubt, all letters should be weighed before being mailed. Fountain pens save ink.

mean many dollars saved at the end of a year. In this country we waste $25,000,000 a year, so statisticians tell us, because we have failed to adopt the potato drying process used successfully in Germany. By failing to adopt this means of preserving the crop, potatoes rot unnecessarily. In Germany also the leaves of potatoes and other plants are utilized, and it is estimated that our failure to do this costs us $12,000,000. We waste $93,000,000 a year in losses of live stock, due to diseases such as Texas fever, tuberculosis, scabies and cholera. We waste $400,000,000 annually in losses to crops and live stock by rats, mice, wolves and other similar pests. We waste the prodigious sum of $267,000,000 a year through the attack of flies, ticks and other similar pests. This, of course, does not include the loss to human life due to mosquitoes, flies, fleas and other insects. Thus we see how the losses in little things, considered from a national standpoint, are most serious. It is the duty of every citizen to his nation and to himself to economize and practice thrift wherever possible. In Canada, where the price of wheat and bread is very high, housewives are being encouraged through the newspapers to use home-made bread.

TWO KILLED, TWO MORE FATALLY INJURED

Many Others Injured When Racer Going 102 Miles an Hour Leaves Track

Speedway, Uniontown, Pa., Dec. 2.—Two men were killed, two others were fatally injured and half score sustained severe injuries here this afternoon when Frank Galvin's car, traveling around the saucer at 102 miles an hour crashed into Hughie Hughes' machine in front of the press stand and wrecked the structure.

The dead: Hughie Hughes, Gaston Weigle.

Fatally injured: Frank Galvin, and unidentified man.

Seriously hurt: L. Herbert Smith, Pittsburgh; James J. Daugherty, James Wall, Pittsburgh; Montgomery McCormick, Uniontown; Edward Korbel, New York; F. W. Curry, Greensburg.

Hughes had just come safely through a critical point in the race and was before the press stand, his car standing still, receiving the cheers of the 20,000 spectators. He had just come safely out of a dangerous pocket.

Just then Galvin, rounding the second turn near the top, lost control of his car. It came across the track, hit Hughes' car on the side and sent it almost through the stand.

Hughes, Galvin and Weigle, the latter Galvin's machanician, were buried in the wreckage of the two cars and the press stand. For a time it was thought that all were killed outright. Galvin, thought to be dead, was carried back to the garage. It was found that he was still living and was revived. Physicians stated he was so badly crushed that he could not survive.

Hughes' car piled through the fence at the west curve and was put out of commission. Hardly a minute later Galvin's car went off the track and out directly through the press stand. The stand was completely wrecked and many spectators were injured.

TEACHERS DISCUSS SCHOOL PROBLEMS

M. S. Pittman Talks at Length on "Privileges of the School Board"

Discussion of problems of general interest to the schools of Marion county occupied the attention of the convention of Marion county school boards in the high school today.

The meeting this morning was in the nature of a round table and a number of speakers gave their views on various questions. This afternoon M. S. Pittman, of the department of rural schools of the Oregon Normal at Monmouth, gave the principal address by stating that the word "duty" has a depressing effect and that the "privilege" is inspiring. Therefore he spoke on the privileges instead of the duties of the school board.

The Privileges he divided into seven groups which he outlined, briefly, as follows:

First—the privilege of investigation in which he emphasized the point that in an election today officers are not elected to do one particular thing but to do the thing his investigations show him should be done.

Second—To guarantee to children the proper physical environment. This he said the boards were rapidly doing in the construction of better school buildings, making them more pleasant than the average homes.

Third—The selection of the teacher and the work of helping him make good. Special attention he directed to the selection of the teacher and declared the school board should support her as a unit even though they differed before she was elected.

Fourth—The privilege of industrial guidance, because the school today in a center of industrial activity, a place of industrial knowledge.

Fifth—The influencing of the social life so that the school might have the right tone. This he said can be done by the selection of a teacher in harmony with the ideals the board wishes to foster and develop.

Sixth—Developing civility, the withholding of hasty judgment and the standing for sane settlement of differences.

Seventh—The privilege of placing the school on a business basis and developing in the school of business principles. He said the school board should map out a business policy to extend over a number of years, that they should fix the teacher's salary on a definite scale of increase, etc.

Arizona Prepares for Very Long Dry Spell

Phoenix, Arizona, Dec. 2.—Arizona's final risk to stock up with liquor before Governor Hunt issues his proclamation Monday making Arizona "bone dry," is causing the express companies to work day and night. Liquor is arriving by the carload in many towns and the express invoice slips resemble city directories.

In an attempt to keep up with the throng storming the various distributing points, the express companies have hired empty store rooms and employed extra teams and clerks. It is estimated that $100,000 worth of liquor will be received in Phoenix alone today. Most of this is from Los

ROD AND GUN CLUB ELECTS OFFICERS

Also Names Delegates to Meeting of Oregon Sportsman's League

The annual meeting of the Capital City Rod and Gun Club, was held at the Commercial Club rooms Friday evening, and the following officers elected: President, A. G. Magers; secretary-treasurer, Mark Siddall; field captain, Otto Kubin.

The Oregon Sportsman's League meets in Portland, December 3 and 4, and the club appointed Mark Siddall and A. G. Magers as delegates. Measures of very great importance to every hunter and fisher are to be brought up, and delegates to the legislature instructed.

The club, after heated discussion, went on record as supporting the following measures:

1. To reduce the trout limit from 75 to 50 per day.

2. To leave the six inch limit on trout as it is.

3. To close the net fishing on the Willamette river.

4. To leave the China pheasant law as it is at present.

5. To leave the law concerning the deer season as it is at present.

6. To support a campaign for placing the control of game laws in the hands of sportsmen, not politicians.

The fish and game of Oregon, it was declared, are becoming scarce each year, and in order to protect and preserve them, it is needful every lover of hunting and fishing do his part. The Capital City Rod and Gun Club expects to start a membership campaign at once, and want every person buying a hunting or fishing license in and around Salem, to join this club and help make it strong enough to have a voice in controlling the fish and game laws of Oregon. They are now trying to get a fish hatchery on the Santiam river near Mehama and are making very good progress, but must have a larger and stronger club to get these things through.

The next meeting of the club will be held Friday evening, December 8, and it is very important that every member be present.

GOVERNOR ASKS FOR RETURN OF MILITIA

Says Men Are Not Complaining But Families Require Them at Home

Governor Withycombe has sent the following letter to Newton G. Baker, secretary of war at Washington, D. C., in an endeavor to have Battery A, Oregon Field Artillery, and Troop A, Oregon Cavalry returned from the border.

"Troop A, Oregon Cavalry, and Battery A, Oregon Artillery, are now stationed at Calexico, California. They have been on the border for slightly over five months, having gone south early in July.

"The three hundred odd members of the two Oregon organizations answered the call promptly, as did those who went with the Third Oregon Infantry, and returned in September. The officers and men are not complaining, and the have, I am informed, conducted themselves with great credit. But they naturally want to get home, and especially their families want and need them back.

"This letter is to inquire if some steps for their return to Oregon cannot be instituted. I believe the men are entitled to consideration in this respect as they have already been removed half a year from their civil pursuits, often at great personal sacrifice. Also this action might not be difficult from a military standpoint as they seem to be occupying a portion of the border remote from pending disturbances.

STATUE OF LIBERTY IS ILLUMINATED

President Gave Wireless Signal for Lighting Liberty's Torches

New York, Dec. 2.—At a signal from President Wilson, who stood on board the presidential yacht, Mayflower, a flood of light illuminated the Statue of Liberty as dusk was falling this evening. The president inaugurated the lighting system, provided by the New York World popular subscription which will outline the statue as "a beacon of liberty" standing visible for miles in New York bay, with the following message wireless to the statue at 5:45: "I light this statue with the thought that it may always stand as a symbol of our purpose to throw upon liberty out of our life as a national light which shall reveal its dignity, its sincere power, its benignant hope and spirit of guidance."

Angela. The new prohibition law does not prohibit the possession of liquor, but halts shipments into the state after Monday.

Balkans Again War News Focus With Monastir in Very Center

The relation of the Macedonian and Roumanian fronts now prominent in the war news is shown in the accompanying map. The shaded portion shows territory occupied by the central powers. The plan of the allies is to catch Bulgaria between two armies and cut the Berlin-Constantinople railway, which runs through Sofia and Nish. Turkey and Bulgaria would be separated from Germany and Austria-Hungary and could be dealt with in detail. The southern army in Macedonia under General Sarrail, advancing north, has pushed its left wing into Serbia 4 miles and captured the important city of Monastir, a view of which is shown in the accompanying picture. This army of Serbs, French and Russians has reconquered the unshaded portion of Serbia south and east of Monastir. The northern army in the Roumanian province of the Dobruja is advancing south, hoping first to wrest the Constantza-Ceravoda railroad and the Ceravoda bridge across the Danube from Von Mackensen and drive him back into Bulgaria. A second army co-operating with this one is on the western bank of the Danube across from Ceravoda. On Roumania's northern and north-

Southerly Storm Sweeping Up Coast

San Francisco, Dec. 2.—A southerly storm, the first of the season, today gripped the coast from the Canadian line to Mexico and Weather Forecaster G. H. Wilson declared this afternoon that it shows no sign of abatement. In spite of the fact that the wind has shown a high velocity and the barometer has been falling, the rainfall is below normal. Coastwise shipping was completely demoralized and in practically every Pacific coast port steam schooners and other smaller craft are remaining in harbors. The wind at Point Reyes today reached a velocity of 70 miles an hour.

Says He Called Her "Red Light Woman"

Thompson Falls, Mont., Dec. 2.—Edith Colby today told the jury in her alleged murder trial why she shot and killed A. C. Thomas, republican county chairman, last September. "He called me a red light woman,"

PERSHING IS READY

San Antonio, Texas, Dec. 2.—General Funston today refused to discuss the possibility of a Villista attack on Juarez or General Pershing's forces, further than to reiterate his statement that "Pershing is ready to meet a Villista attack."

she half sobbed, "a thing of the underworld."

Miss Colby was the last witness in her own defense. Her lawyers, seeking to prove insanity, questioned her about childhood days in New England when she is said to have manifested the first symptoms of an unsound mind.

Defense Counsel Mulligan then questioned the girl about her blighted love affair with a prominent physician. This is said to have been a severe shock and to have still further affected her mental state.

Dr. A. Lake of Spokane, a spiritual healer, testified that Miss Colby went to him several months ago to be treated for mental trouble. Attorney W. P. Riddle of Spokane and Dr. George Downs, close friends of the defendant's family, were also called to testify today.

PREPARING TO SEND UP FRENCH CAPTIVE BALLOON
